

Books I read...

Issue 2/ 27 February 2017

“Little Cloudzaur” /M. Cielena/

The story is about Cloudzaur Pubulis. He decided to see the world. He transformed into the forest. He met the grove Mistress of Wind and the church Saint Anna on his way. The travellers visited a city. The man Uztups wanted to cut down Mistress of Wind. Pubulis raised her up in the sky. Mistress of Wind like it there in the sky, but she wanted to go home. Saint Anna helped her to get down. I liked that Garlic wanted to get on the president’s table. I did not like that Uztups wanted to cut down the grove.

Elina, 10 y/o, LATVIA

“The Lost Realm” /Geronimo Stilton/

This book tells the story of a boy named Shadow, who is sent away from his Kingdom. In the future he will have to save himself from wickedness. The boy lived with a very nice family, but at the age of 15 he discovered his fate and with the help of his brother-in-law he began a fantastic adventure to save his kingdom.

I liked this book because it provokes my imagination. It carries me into a world with invented characters and casts away your bad thoughts.

Maria Teresa, 10 y/o, ITALY

“Poor Guys” /Fakir Kardeşler/

I really like this book. It shows that we don't have to judge people depending on how they look or what they like.

I think everyone should read this book, even adults, because it teaches a good lesson.

Mehmet, 10y/o, TURKEY